Where can you buy Fairtrade products?

You can buy Fairtrade products in many places. All the major supermarkets stock Fairtrade products. So do the major coffee shop chains, the charity shop Oxfam and online shopping sites.

Does Fairtrade cost more?

Fairtrade products can cost more. This is because Fairtrade makes sure that the farmer or producer gets a fair price for their product.

Also, Fairtrade helps projects that improve the lives of local people. For example, Fairtrade has aided schools and health clinics. They have also helped people to get safe and clean water for the first time.

A Sustainable Future Climate Change

What kind of products are Fairtrade?

Fairtrade products range from fruit to honey, tea to chocolate. Most people think of food when they think of Fairtrade products.

However, you can also buy Fairtrade cotton clothes and Fairtrade footballs.

Before Fairtrade, many farmers and producers were not getting a very good deal. Fairtrade also supports projects that improve the lives of people in third world countries.
